here we present to you...

HALCYON 1998
SWARTHMORE College.
SWARTHMORE, PENNSYLVANIA.

In this yearbook, we have tried to capture Swarthmore for you and posterity. However, we produced this book in a box so that you can preserve whatever of Swarthmore is meaningful to you—favorite photos, letters, junk mail, paper clippings. We have made a start with the traditional senior pages and the sports sections as well as some record of campus organizations and candid photos. Additionally included are excerpts of this year's Swarthmore College Bulletin, reproductions of popular articles from Spike, and copies of handouts and announcements. We hope that you will add to this box and that the contents of it will become something you enjoy as the creators of the first yearbox now do with their copies of Halcyon 1969.

Varsity Sports

The academic year began with the athletes returning to campus before everyone else to start their grueling preseason training. The Women's Volleyball team was among the first to return with their old coach. Their season saw the usual ups and downs. Meanwhile, the Cross-Country runners enjoyed their usual success under the tutelage of Ted Dixon. The Soccer teams returned full-force with new recruits determined to change their losses to victories.

However, nothing could be more indicative of the 1997 Fall Athletic Season than the preceding pages: pictures of the Field Hockey and Football teams. Although the Halcyon's head-honchos rejected a South Park inspired sports section, it would have been just as appropriate in replacing those pictures with ones of the South Park kids and the Lil' Rascals. No one was abducted by aliens this semester but quite a few unusual occurrences took place.

The Field Hockey team continued their winning ways with second-year head coach Karen Borbee. The first-year recruits added depth to the squad as their performances surpassed all expectations. Senior captains Michelle Walsh and Danielle Duffy applied their experience to the talented team and led the squad to win Swat's first ECAC Field Hockey title. These Conference Champions should continue their success next season with Holly Baker, Donna Griffin, Lurah Hess, Jen Hagan and Lynne Stuerle at the helm.

Garnet Tide Football suffered an embarrassing season where they lost not only their games but also their teammates and eventually their head coach. Under the leadership of senior captains Ben Hall and Bernard Nossuli, the team managed to win the respect of many people on campus (granted they were mostly athletes) by staying on the team despite its dismal record. The most impressive people aboard Swarthmore's own Titanic were Aaron Hultgren '98 and Alex DeShields '98, Lacrosse Team captains who joined the team to maintain the conference minimum for fielding a team. The ordeal this team went through exemplify the best and the worst of Swarthmore athletics: why do people participate in sports in an academically-intensive institution? The people who left the team at its most vulnerable point sent a mixed message to the rest of the community. On the other hand, the people who stayed showed a pure love of the sport and the true meaning of athletic competition. The lessons to be learned from this team were numerous. The Swarthmore community needs to examine and re-examine the importance of maintaining an athletic program: it is not enough to support the teams in theory. People must follow their ideas with actions!

CROSS COUNTRY

Football

This year's team saw more trials and tribulations than any other Swarthmore team in history. Starting with their lack-luster record compounded by last year's similarly discouraging outcome, the team seemed to be doomed from the get-go. The Garnet had their work cut out for them in the off-season, losing 7 key returning starters before the preseason. The loss decimated the defensive secondary, line-backing core, and offensive backfield, leaving Joe Aleffi '00 as the sole running back.

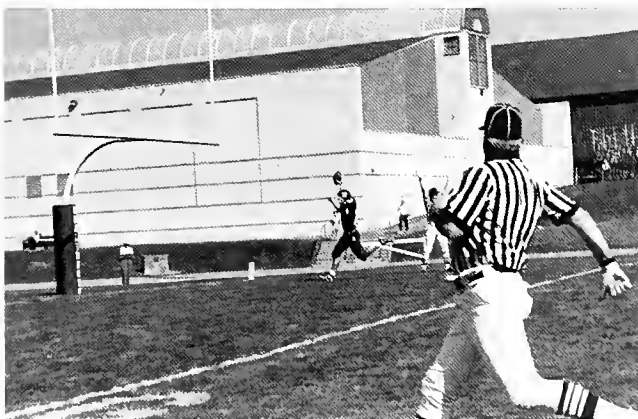

Disaster completely set in during the Tide's trip to Pomona, California, when the tide met Pomona-Pitzer. President Al Bloom witnessed the team's dreadful performance, as the garnet fell 76-12. Following the debacle, Bloom was heard saying "if you think about it, you only lost 38-6 to Pomona and 38-6 to Pitzer." Wise words, Mr. Bloom, wise words. Bloom also announced his plans to renovate the Clothier Fields scoreboard so that it could "accommodate opponent's triple-digit scores." Following these inspiring comments and the red-eye flight back to Philadelphia, 7 players (5 of whom were starters) chose to jump ship and quit the team.

Co-captains Bernard Nossuli '98 and Ben Hall '98 tried to regroup to finish the season with the remaining 31 members, suiting up an average of 28 players in the 4 remaining contests. Two Swarthmore lacrosse players, Aaron Hultgren '98 and Alex Deshields '98, went above and beyond the call of duty and volunteered their time, energy, and heart to fill out the dwindling roster. The remaining matchups and scores against Dickinson, Franklin & Marshall, eventual Centennial Conference champion Western Maryland, and Washington & Lee remained lopsided losses for the Garnet. However, the team showed incredible determination and fervor, with many players having to play both offense and defense in positions unfamiliar to them.

At the conclusion of his second straight winless season, Coach Karl Miran was asked to step down as head coach by the administration.

On behalf of the captains, we would like to wish the remaining members of the team the best of luck in the coming seasons. Hats off to those guys who had the guts to stick it out.

— By Co-captains Ben Hall '98 & Bernard Nossuli '98

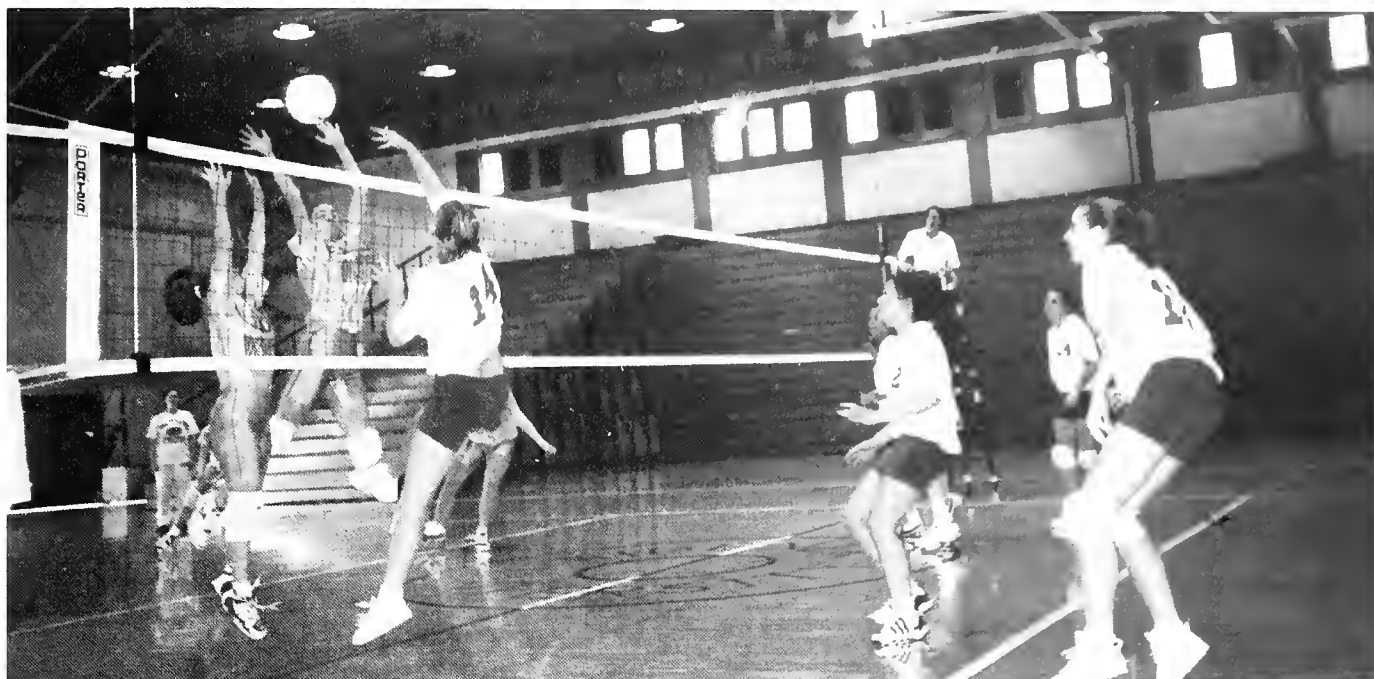

MEN'S SOCCER

(Top) Tirian Mink '98 leads the Garnet attack towards the goal. (Bottom) Rufus Frazer '99 dribbles the ball towards the end zone. At least on the soccer field. Rufus knows exactly where he is supposed to end up...Australia or Italy? Learn to speak Norberth!

WOMEN'S Volleyball

Tam Doan

Few people can see the connection between Star Wars and astrophysics. Tam is one of these chosen few. She is a dreamer who dares to follow her imagination. Thinking of Tam brings to mind infinite patience and never getting mad. She is someone who is always willing to listen and never judge. We will miss her.

Stephanie Wang '99

Steph's got the "New York City" style, in her clothes, and in her walk. You'd think she embodies a city-girl, nonchalant attitude. But no. She has a vulnerability she allows you to see in her eyes and in her smile. A deep, sensitive, and open person... she's the kind of friend you want to be close to because she has the ability to "connect" with you, to let you in.

Marianna Ruzinova

We can always count on Marianna to make jokes last and to take an injured friend to the hospital on the eve of an important exam. She is a warm spirit who stands strong to make the life she wants for herself.

LET THERE BE LIGHT... Some of the gang spent a Saturday afternoon clowning around on the stairways of the sunny atrium in the newly-renovated Trotter Hall. (4/11/98)

YOU DAH NCE DIVINELY, DAHLING... Faye and Marianna warm up before their first Screw Your Roommate Dance freshman year. (2/25/95)

LIFE'S A BEACH... Steph, Jen, and Faye enjoying the beautiful spring weather while chatting in the sun. (4/11/98)

MAKE A WISH... At the end of junior year, the gang threw Marianna and Jen a surprise 21st birthday bash at Faye's place in New York. (5/18/97)

GIRLS' NIGHT OUT... Sampling some delicious Italian cuisine at Upstairs at Versailles in Philadelphia. (4/4/98)

→ SAY CHEESE... Marianna and Tam sharing a tender moment. (1997)

PARTNERS IN CRIME... After spending her first Swat Halloween as a pregnant nun (to Jen's priest), Marianna vowed that the following year she would go as a French maid. Jen, meanwhile, decided to recapture her Kansas roots. (10/28/95)

Faye Ann Bulcon

True to the picture, Faye is laughing, always laughing. When the rest of us are in our usual state of withdrawal, complaint, angst or hysteria, Faye's smile comes easy as the breeze and stays with us throughout our day. Though we may be going our separate ways, Faye, we'll be strong, we'll survive... We'll stay alive, no matter what occurs! No matter how long it takes, no matter how far, we will find you. We will find you!

Jennifer Sorowitz

Have you heard of Plato. Aristotle. CSM? Morons! When we think of great thinkers and visionary leaders, we don't think of CSM... only one person leaps to mind: JEN!!! We want to thank you for your tireless efforts in bringing us together. We couldn't have done it without you.

Walter Luh '99

W is for the warmth he brings to his friendships; he's always there to lend a hand.

A is for the artist who brings incredible imagination and skill to all of his endeavors.

L is for the laughter that surrounds us whenever we are together.

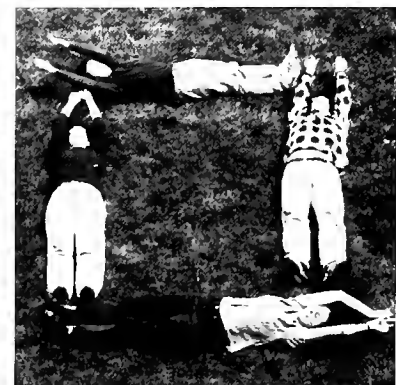

T is for trust - in us for not hesitating to share his feelings, and in him for always taking the time to listen.

E is for his easy-going manner, and the way he takes so much in stride.

R is for romantic, because he has a sensitive soul.

October 17, 1997

AUSTIN, Texas — James A. Michener, who guided millions of readers from the South Pacific to the fringes of space in giant, best-selling novels, died Thursday at his home of kidney failure. He was 90.

He graduated with highest honors in English from Swarthmore College in suburban Philadelphia in 1929. From 1933 to 1941, Mr. Michener taught English at various schools including Harvard, taking time out to earn a master's degree.

His work made Mr. Michener wealthy. He donated $2 million to Swarthmore in 1984, calling it payment back in interest for a[n athletic] scholarship he got there, and then gave $5 million more in 1991. His and his wife's gifts to the University of Texas over the years totaled $44.2 million, including a $15 million donation in 1992.

Michener left the bulk of his estate and all of his literary rights to the College. The literary copyrights are an enormous treasure that will bring money to Swarthmore for many years

WINTER SPORTS

Winter is the Yearbook section that would benefit most from a South Park theme because of all the similarities between the cartoon series and the season. First, Pennsylvania is usually cold during the winter months and South Park just so happens to be a little town in Colorado, known for its perpetual skiing. Skiing is a winter sport that requires snow. Snow is a winter phenomenon. Secondly, our winter coat wearage increases as the months breaks into the highest and the lowest numbers. South Parkers wear winter coats all the time. Coincidence? I think not.

Ironically, winter seems to be the season in which Swarthmore teams with the least apparel (in terms of fabric coverage) play. Basketball players run around in low-cut tank-tops and mesh shorts. Badminton people wear short skirts with self-provided spandex pants underneath (the athletic department didn't seem to the need of providing the team with moon-proof guards). Wrestlers have it worst; they compete in full spandex gear. The swimmers have a reason to be in those skimpy outfits because can you imagine them in the pool with parkas and scarves? The tracksters run around in those micro-shorts and tank-tops all year around so we should be accustomed to their Richard Simmons likeness by now. This year the track team experienced their most successful seasons in recent history. The women's team won their conference and the men finished second. Perhaps, their uniforms contributed to their success in all three seasons.

Putting costumes aside, the winter season brought on quite a few South Park-esque episodes. There was blood drawn on the badminton court! The swimmers continued their winning ways with their pregame rituals, which would have rivalled anything that Trey Parker and Matt Stone could come up with. The cheerleaders mysteriously disappeared sometime in November and never resurfaced. Despite all these benefits that a South Park theme would bring to the sports section, the Big Cheese had problems with the idea of some team getting an "anal-probe," just as Cartman did; hence, the following no-theme theme section.

BADMINTON

(Bottom) Erika Johansen and Jennifer Chen playing in the Nationals quarter-finals round where they defeated a pair from Howard.

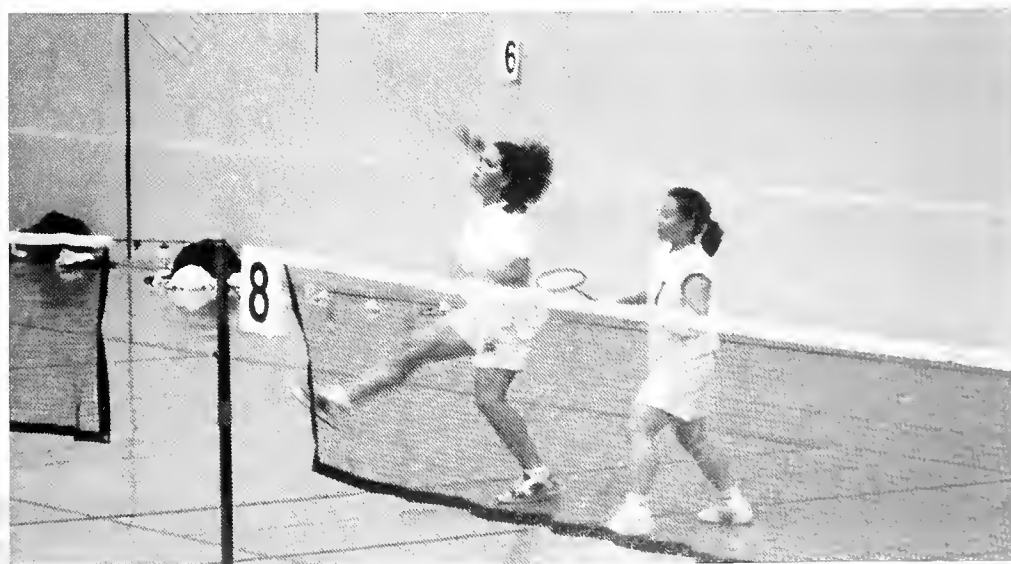

Badminton, the most ignored varsity sport on campus, continued its winning tradition this winter. The team finished its season as co-PAIAW Champions with Albright College.

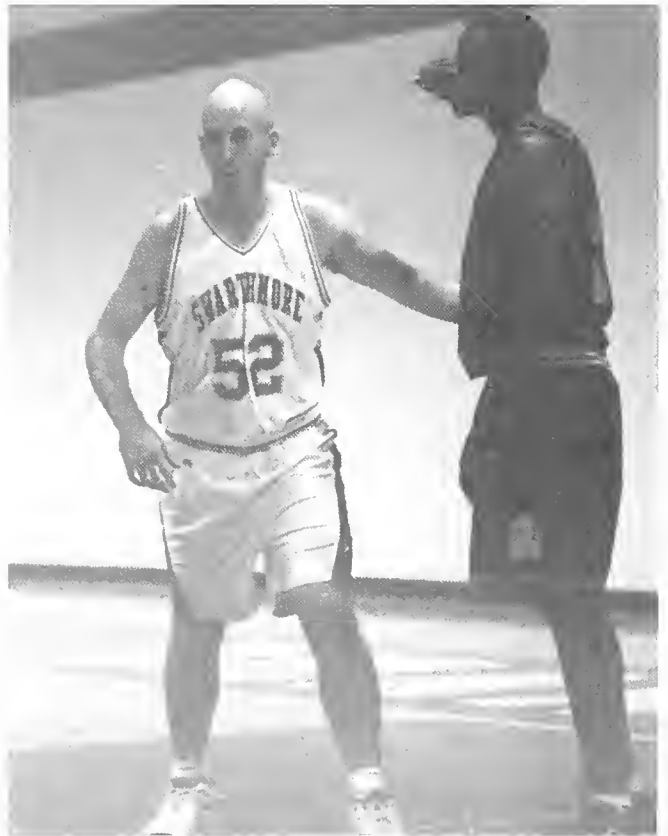

The team led by returning players and fueled by enthusiastic first-years saw unprecedented success, even without the legendary Thanh Hoang '97. Former player, Megan Smith '96 returned to help out with the team when her schedule permitted.

Tam Doan '98 filled the first-singles seed admirably with her play. Second-singles Wendy Kemp '99 followed suit and contributed greatly.

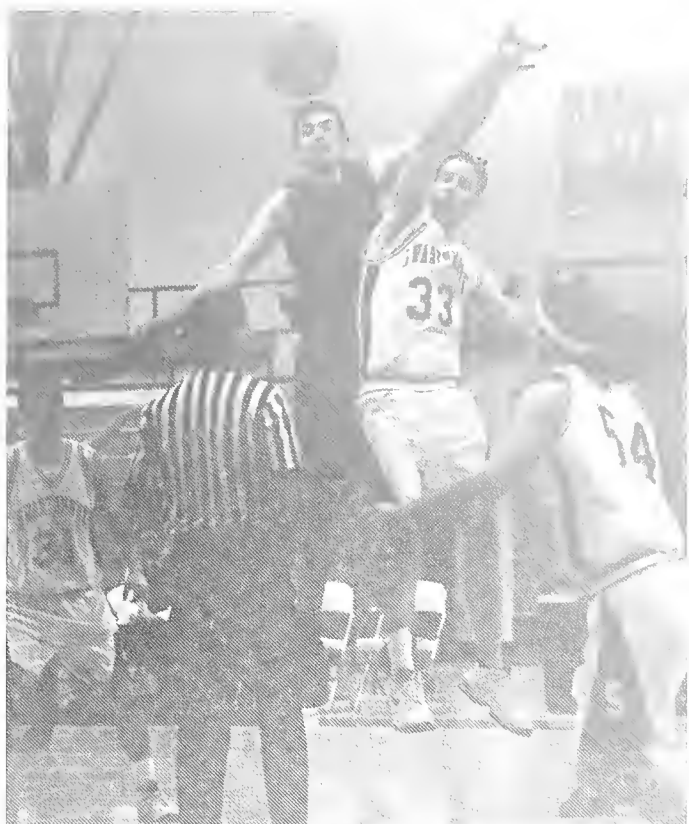

First-doubles, Erika Johansen '99 and Jennifer Chen '99, provided the sure win for each match, while the freshman second-doubles team of Jane Ng and Siobhan Carty added exciting (and often nail-biting) wins to the team's record. Swat sent three players to the Collegiate Nationals this year, who finished third and fourth in doubles.

The team will sorely miss the leadership of the seniors and especially the comforting voices and calming ways of Tam and MyPhuong. Best of luck to all the seniors as they embark on their post-Swarthmore journeys.

An Insider's Guide to Women's B-ball

The 1997-98 women's basketball team had a very competitive season. Although we did not have a winning record, we still had much success. Youth reigned, and many players who will form the core of the team in the years to come gained valuable experience. The most defining characteristic of this team is its closeness, expressed both on and off the court, but quite obviously in these typical quips from practice.

Adrienne: "I've got a new play for us to work in"

Kristen: "Let's call it Black Lightning.... Or 2."

Nancy: "Hey, did you see The X-files episode with the lightning boy?"

Gwyn: "No, I went to the lodges for a party that night."

Bre: "But there were no cute, tall boys there."

Leslie: "Forget the guys, check out this grapevine!"

Deirdre: "Yo! Ambular, get the ball before somebody trips on it!"

Fran: "Ow!...Hey, he looks cute today!"

Amber: "Whatever, my hair looks much cuter. (purrr...)"

Thalia: "What color is your hair today? I don't have my contacts in."

Michelle: "Contacts are overrated, who needs to see the rim anyway?"

Jean: "Have you seen the movie Contact? I didn't understand any of the science in it."

Kira: "Do you remember that movie about college life, Animal House or something?"

Heather: "No, I don't remember anything like that at all."

Pam: "Hi guys! I made some cookies!"

Lily: "Cookies? Where are the cookies?"

Holly: "Oh, and I have some water from my spring in my backyard."

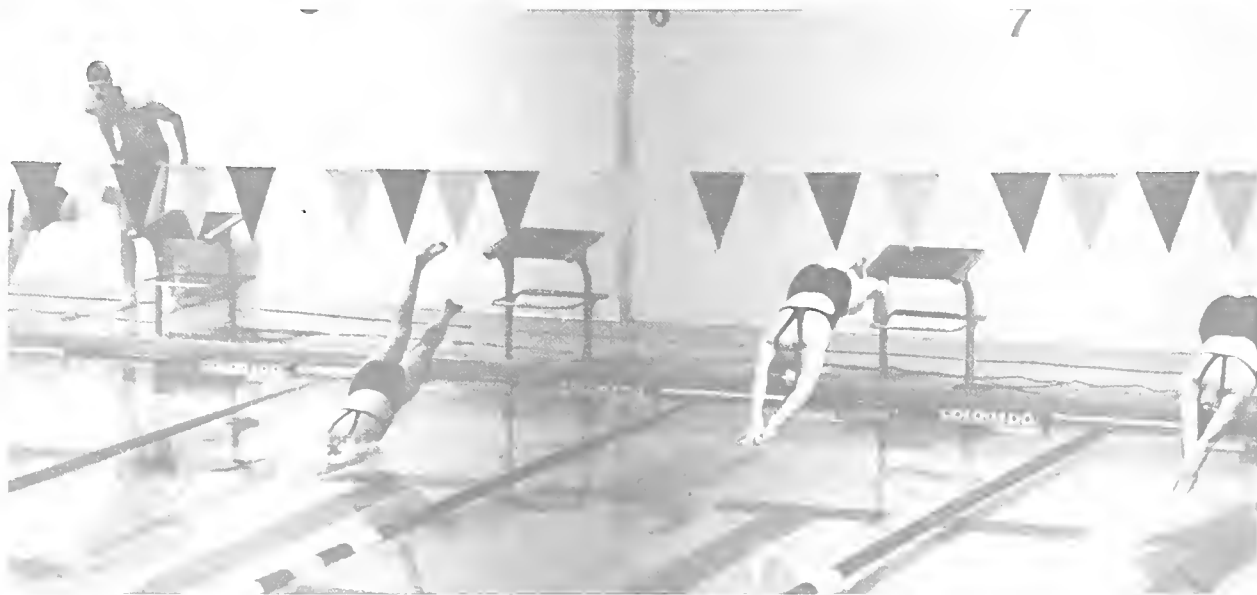

Adrienne: "Ok guys, time to start practice. Everybody on the line and do an up and back."

— By Michelle Walsh '98 and Jean Quinn '99

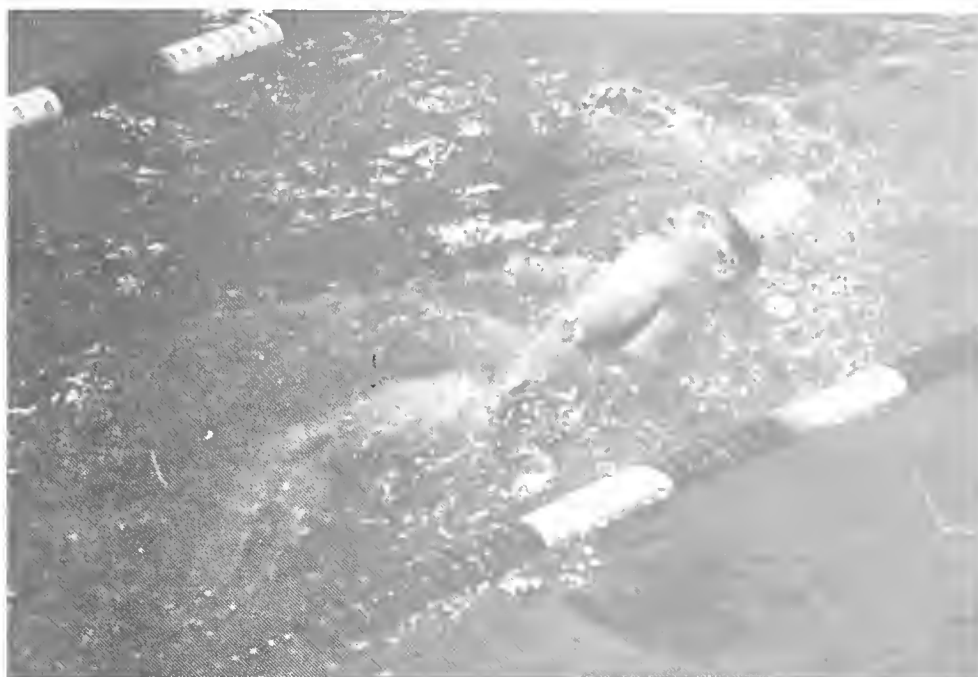

The men's and women's swim team continued the tradition of placing second to Gettysburg at the Centennial Conference championship. While this year's meet was more competitive, both team still look to defeating the rival in either dual or championship meets.

The seniors of '98 are the core of Swarthmore Swimming, with their names decorating the record board and the top finishers at any meet. Andrew Robbins, Mark Friedberg, and Carl Sanders leave with the 50m freestyle record. — Jill Belding '99

WRESTLING

Most people with bad backs sit in barko loungers -- they do not even take Sunday strolls, much less wrestle. This year, senior Alec Stall summoned a special energy to compete and prevail at the regionals.

Watching senior Pete Balvanz toy with opposing wrestlers was an incredible study in beauty. Pete ended with a 24-5 record and 10 technical falls. He won by fall in the first round, then beat the defending Conference MVP 11-0 in the semis of Centennials before falling to Andrey Brenner in the finals 7-2. He won his first match of the Regionals before tearing his MCL.

Normally, awards and monikers (such as, most improved) are given to pitiful freshman who by some luck and chance managed to win or succeed late in the year. But, this year the most improved wrestler, Alejandro Montero '00, went from being a good wrestler to expecting to dominate anyone who stepped onto the mat with him.

The team saw great contributions from Sean Lewis '00, who helped beat Johns Hopkins in dramatic fashion with a last second pin. This year's wrestling team was definitely the most entertaining and enjoyable that Pete and Alec could remember. In addition to the team gelling in the waning matches of the year, both Pete and Alec were named Academic All-Americans.

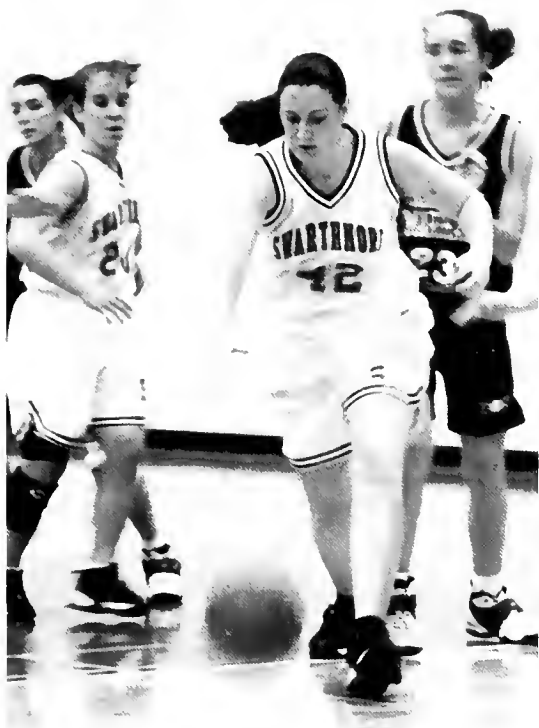

— Paul Willenberg '00

The Growth In Christ conference in the Spring, held at Bucks County Community College, is also a time for Tri-Co bonding. Faiza J. (BMC), Craig Shockley, Catherine Montgomery, Young Choi, Suellen Lee, George Miranda, and Robin Fraser (BMC) take a break from learning about such issues as pluralism and relativism from speaker Mark Potter to eat together.

Swarthmore Christian Fellowship

The Swarthmore Christian Fellowship was active this year both in growing as a community of believers in Jesus Christ, and in engaging the campus with events that sparked discussion and debate about ultimate issues. Included in the activities that the Fellowship sponsored were a Frosh Banquet and Pre-Formal in the Fall, in which the upperclassmen prepared an evening of classy food and entertainment to serve the freshmen; a Growth in Christ conference each semester, in which people were able to take courses such as "Die and Let Live" and "Apologetics," and Fall and Winter Retreats to get off campus, build relationships, and learn more about how to apply the Christian faith to every aspect of our lives.

CF's biggest event this year was the sponsorship of "What is Pluralism at Swarthmore?" Week. During the week of April 13-17, the Fellowship presented an informational display in Parrish Hall, hours talking about the difference between pluralism (a sociological fact stating that different people have different deeply held beliefs) and relativism (an epistemological position stating that there is nothing absolutely true), and why the distinction between these two terms is so important to make. In addition to the display, the Fellowship hosted a Roundtable discussion and sponsored a speaker, Dr. Robert Oliphant, to give a lecture on the issue.

Common Sense was founded roughly five years ago and remains Swarthmore's only conservative publication. During the Fall 1997 term, the journal expanded to become a Tri-College newspaper including writers and editorial staff from Bryn Mawr College and Haverford College. The staff seeks to provide an alternative viewpoint on campus issues as well as domestic and international matters. Common Sense's main purpose is to keep members of the Tri-College Community aware of both sides of an issue by presenting the side not usually put forth.

The College Republicans supported Republicans in local elections and brought a speaker to campus this year. They took part in various election year activities during the Fall 1997 semester. Many did logistical work for local campaigns and others attended some campaign rallies. The highlight of the election season was the Christie Todd Whitman (R-Gov. of New Jersey) victory party which a group of Swarthmore CR's attended with their Haverford and Bryn Mawr counterparts.

The Republicans sponsored the lecture by Dr. Christopher Wolfe, a Professor of Philosophy at Marquette University. The lecture was titled "Can We and Should We Legislate Morality?" They co-sponsored the lectures of George Harris during the Fall 1997 semester and Dr. Robert George in the Spring 1998 semester.

Earthlust is an environmental group that concentrates mostly on campus and administrative issues related to the environment. It also provides the opportunity for students to bring outside issues to the attention of the entire campus and raises campus awareness of various environmental issues. This semester, Earthlust worked with the Environmental Studies capstone members to improve energy and water efficiency campus-wide. This long-term project includes installing on/off shower heads and organizing a dorm competition to see who can use the least water and energy. In collaboration with the capstone members, Earthlust is in the process of assessing the college's energy use and intends to create a committee with the administration to deal with environmental topics. As part of their investigation into energy use, the group visited the Philadelphia biosolids recycling plant, to which much of Swarthmore's waste is sent, and the Rodale Institute, an example of sustainable agriculture. The group also ran a campaign to encourage the use of one-sided paper, a series of dinner discussion groups on topics such as bioregionalism and veganism, and a letter-writing campaign to protest false use of the "organic" label. In addition, they were deeply involved in planning Earth Week, bringing Richard Clugston to speak, organizing a faculty panel, showing movies, and trying to raise campus awareness of environmental issues.

The Progressive Action Coalition is an umbrella organization for liberal activist groups on campus. It will provide a forum for enhanced cooperation among activists whose interests overlap. PAC's goals include increasing knowledge of progressive activity on campus, facilitating communication between various groups, and hopefully providing more opportunities for inter-group coordination and campus-wide campaigns.

PAC was revived and organized this spring by Aarti Iyer '99 and Gabriel Cumming '00. These two coordinators published a bi-weekly email newsletter containing information about member groups' activities and goals, to be distributed to anyone who was interested.

SCU manned the ideological trenches in its ongoing fight to bring a truly balanced debate to the ramparts of Swarthmore. Some of SCU's specific tactics included bringing Harris Chemical Group CEO George Harris to speak on corporate responsibility and engaging in written critique on the pages of Common Sense. Fighting the forces of PC and academic onesidedness, though, didn't occupy all of the group's time: SCU also hosted its annual Pre-Sager party in Parrish Parlours, thus affording Swatties a chance to expose even more of themselves to the Other side of the story.

In only its first year of existence, Swarthmore Students for a Free Tibet carved out its niche as a group committed to both activism and education. Whether its members are traveling to Philadelphia's Independence Hall to protest China's occupation of Tibet, or preparing lessons on Tibetan cultural history, SSFT seeks to educate both itself and the campus and raise awareness of Tibetan issues. Toward this end, speakers John Brzostowski of the New School for Social Research and Glenn Mullin (a translator of Tibetan poetry) were brought to campus this year, and meetings regularly featured student and faculty presentations. Petitions and letter writing campaigns have been integral to the group's agenda as well. SSFT hosted a campus-wide study break in honor of the still-imprisoned Panchen Lama. In the future, it is hoped that SSFT may expand its efforts in becoming a supporter of the Tibetan Children's Village.

Each of the groups at Gospel Jam sang songs with a beautiful tune as well as a beautiful message. Michelle Park, Jen Kim, Luis Quiñones, Craig Shockley, Faye Bulaon, Jae-Kyoung Hong (hidden), Dwayne Chambers, and Dan Marrin sang about the grace of God in "Be Ye Glad."

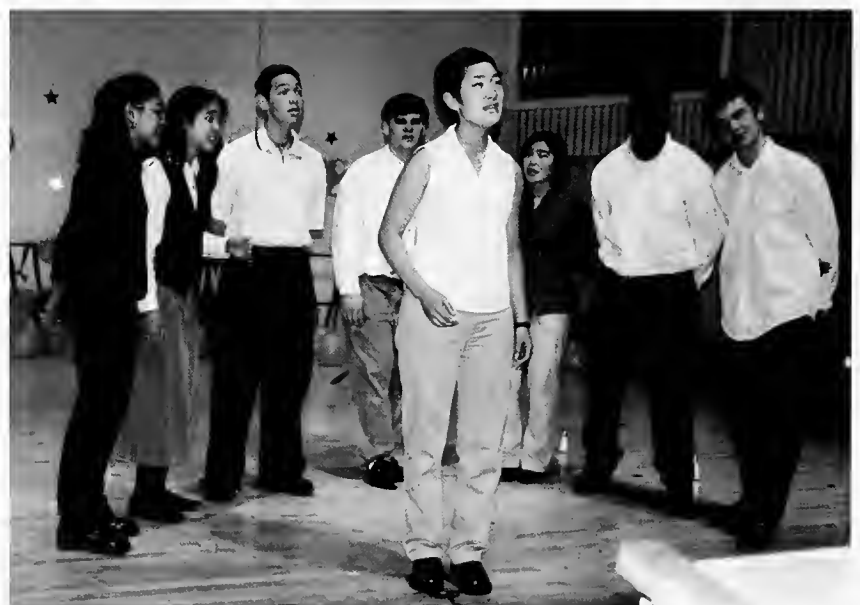

Psalters

Luis Quiñones, Jen Kim, Dwayne Chambers, Dan Marrin, and Jae-Kyoung Hong take a break from organizing the Gospel Jam conference to have a laugh together.

Psalters, a Christian a cappella group formed in 1992 to engage the campus with the truth of Jesus Christ through song, was active this year in concerts both on- and off-campus. In addition to singing at the Jamboree each semester at Swarthmore, Psalters also sang at other colleges in the area, and at local churches. This year, on March 27-28, Psalters held a conference and concert called Gospel Jam, which included eight other Christian a cappella groups from colleges such as Wellesley, Pratt, and Cornell, as well as Swarthmore's Gospel Choir. These ten groups (approximately 100 people) joined together to learn from each other and present a concert to the campus on Saturday night. That concert was well attended by both Swarthmore students and people from off campus. After the concert, some groups stayed behind and had an impromptu time of worship and prayer in the Bell Tower, which was heard all around campus.

THE OUTSIDERS

Collin: It's just like a normal college.

Spike: How do you guys feel about the landscaping?

Collin: They got way too much landscaping. I think they overdid it on the trees.

Doug: They should spend more time on football instead of frisbee.

Spike: Do you guys feel any kinship with the kids who live in New Haven or Cambridge?

Collin: Where? What? No. We know the Morton kids, we know the Wallingford kids, we know the Media kids...but we don't know any of those places...I don't know.

Spike: What do you guys do with all your free time?

All: We skate!

Doug: We skate and sit at the train station.

Collin: I smoke a lot of cigarettes.

Spike: Do you ever actually take the train anywhere?

Greg: We go to Philly every once in a while. We go to a bunch of places to skate. We're making a skate video, too.

Spike: Aren't you trying to get a skate park?

All: Yeah, but...

Collin: It's all political. I mean, our parents are all taxpayers. I don't think the town is really interested in it.

Chris: It'd be nice if the College gave us a spot, cause there's like, 40 spaces, and we're not allowed to skate on College property.

Collin: I get a $5000 fine next time I skate on it.

Chris: They have like, 200 acres out there, for them to play fucking frisbee, while we get to sit at the train station.

Spike: So how much time overall do you guys think you spend skateboarding?

All: 4 hours a day; 8-12 on weekends.

Spike: What about homework?

Jason: Homework sucks. [Laughter all around.]

Chris: I don't do homework, but I probably should.

Spike: How do you guys feel about

Britain's efforts to diffuse the situation in Ireland?

Greg: I think it's just bull shit and everybody should just be painted blue and worship a chicken.

Collin: I don't give a rat's ass. I live in the U.S.A.

Greg: It's stupid! [Scribble tone] Everyone has these beliefs pumped into them and then they fight over it.

Spike: What's your favorite word in English?

Collin: Schlöng.

Greg: Kielbasa.

Spike: That's not English.

Greg: Then come back to me.

Chris: I'd have to go with excellent.

Spike: That's not English.

Jason: White trash.

Spike: That's two words. We're looking for one word here.

Jason: Ok, trash.

Greg: Here, I got one: dope.

Spike: Ok, next question. When you eat Life cereal do you go for regular or Cinnamon?

Collin: Ah, Life cereal kind of sucked, cause it always goes soggy.

Greg: I go with Crispix myself.

Chris: I like the plain, you can add sugar...cause you can add more herbs and spices. With the Cinnamon, it's already flavored, but with the plain...

Collin: Yeah, yeah. I hear what you're saying. It's like the Cinnamon manipulates you, but with the regular...

Spike: So Cinnamon Life oppresses you, is that what you're trying to say?

Chris: Plain Life cereal is rebellious. You know, you can do what you want.

Jason: You guys wanna hear our plan for overthrowing the College?

Spike: Yeah, we'd like that.

Jason: We're gonna steal all their frisbees.

Spike: I wouldn't fuck with the frisbee team.

Doug: I plan to steal everything that's not bolted down.

Spike: What do you guys think of rollerbladers?

All: They suck!

Greg: They're just putting who's copy off a sport that's already been done.

Spike: Ok, everybody quiet down. Is Renato a crack dealer?

All: Ye! Ye! Opium!

Yeah, 'opium'! He's an opium dealer.

Doug: Wrong, it's a laundering agency.

Jason: Renato is an opium den.

Collin: This whole town is full of drugs. The Inglenook: crystal meth. The Cheesecourt: it's a chop shop.

Spike: Who's your favorite Marx: Richard, Groucho, or Karl?

All: Groucho!

Chris: Groucho should have had his own show 'cause the other two weren't funny.

Spike: They weren't all brothers; we were referring to Richard, the pop singer, and Karl, the German philosopher.

Doug: Didn't he create communism?

Spike: Yes, he did.

Doug: Damn commie bastards!

Spike: A final question. Are the big pants a conscious move to derail the present fascist fashion system?

Doug: Naw, they're New York style.

Collin: You go to private school, you don't know.

Jason: It lets my balls jiggle.

Collin: I like the cargo pants, cause I can hide my cigarettes 'em.

Spike: So where do you get most of your cigarettes?

Doug: We just ask people to buy them.

Collin: Either that or we bum them off those foreign girls who sit over there. ○

Shortly after filing their last report on this story, Ben and Andy vanished. They were last seen smashing bottles of Hawk's Root Beer on the train tracks.

Feel like checking out Zurich? The Elders of Zion are offering a lifetime employment opportunity in the impenetrable upper echelons of Swiss banking. Some Hebrew a plus. Blood oath and willingness to give up entire previous existence required. Interested? We will contact you.

LECTURES, PERFORMANCES, DISCUSSIONS

Professor Pavsek to Keep It Real

Chris Pavsek, professor of European Socialism, will deliver his lecture "Adorno, Chumbawumba, and the Class War" in the Hicks Mural Room on Friday, March 6, to an audience composed mostly of angry environmental services workers. Refreshments, including land, bread, and potato vodka, will be served, largely for the purpose of driving the oppressed workers into a crazed angry revolt against the inequities of late capitalism. Property will be destroyed. Sponsored by Marxist Reading Group and the Parrish Commune.

Chalkings Exhibit

The List Gallery hosts an installation of archived slabs of asphalt kissed by the chalk of inspired and profound Swatties. The exhibit includes such favorites as: "Tiffany Free Zone," "My faggot boyfriend will whoop your straight ass," and "Beasts do it better: once you go yak you never go back." Wine and cheese reception to follow.

Rainbow Visions

English Department and SQU to co-sponsor Rainbow Visions Speaker Series. Wednesday at 7:15 in the Scheuer Room, Reading Rainbow's LeVar Burton. Other speakers in the series include The Rainbow Coalition's Jesse Jackson, and former child cartoon Rainbow Brite.

Professor James Kurth to Read

Political Science Professor James T. Kurth will read selections from his recent volume of erotic love haiku, entitled Blow

The purpose of the chalkings is to raise campus consciousness about racial and sexual minorities. The two ways in which I accomplished degrading remarks and political statements.

The degrading remarks, based on stereotypes, are meant to harm and anonymous perpetrators targeting racial and sexual minorities. They mirror the hate crimes that have been face.

The political statements, based on structural realities, are power systems that benefit the white/straight majority at society. However, these comments are meant foster meaning.

The chalkings are not intended to be an empty expression than that. It is my intent that this somewhat extreme community to take a hard and serious look at ourselves live up to the values that we espouse in words.

Spring sports began with their annual training trips to various Southern States. These trips were supposed to make training less grueling by adding “sun” and “fun” to the equation. However, El Nino proved more powerful than Swatties’ will to escape the dreary, grey Pennsylvania weather: the teams who went to Myrtle Beach shivered in 20-degree weather while those in Florida almost drowned in the torrential rain. Come rain or come shine these teams persevered and finished their seasons successfully.

Among the most successful teams were Swat’s Club teams. The ruggers and the ultimate players battled on muddy fields and in rain storms yet ended with winning records. The Men’s Lacrosse team and the Softball team experienced unprecedented success. The hard work and the superb efforts put in by both the players and the coaches finally came into fruition for these two teams. The Men’s Lacrosse team broke their losing streak and won several Conference games this season. The Softball team also broke the record for most wins in a season. Women’s Lacrosse and the Baseball team experienced the usual ups and downs. The Golf team suffered the most unusual fate out of all the sports. It began with 18 players strong but ended up with just 2 for its last game, when their team picture was to be taken. Maybe the post- Myrtle Beach syndrome finally hit or else they were all camera shy.

...O'HANNA...

(On these two pages, clockwise) Marcus Shin '00 tries to pass Washington's defender. The seniors (Erik Johnson, Pete Karacki, Tony Buendia, Chris Rockmore, Matt Halpern, Steven Shin, Aaron Hultgren and Alex DeShields) take the time out to pose for a pic. Swarthmore middies and defense, led by captains Aaron Hultgren and Alex DeShields, attempt to stop opponent's advance. Garnet forwards put a shot on goal. 1998 Team picture. WOMEN'S LACROSSE

(On the opposite page) Top: Fly, Buzzards, fly! Bottom: The muddier the better. It rained so hard on that day that DuPont Fields was essentially a shallow pond. By the second half, it was difficult to distinguish one player from another since everyone was covered with sludge. The Buzzards inched out a victory.

A ma famille

Merci pour le support éternel
 Mam et Pap, merci pour tout l'encouragement que vous m'avez donné toutes ces années
 Je ne serai rien sans vous
 Nan, Merci pour être mon grand frère. On a beaucoup de bonnes mémoires qui nous restent à faire dans les années qui viennent.

Thank you so very much!
 I love you

Laird:

It was only four years ago that I met you, though it seems like you have been a part of my life since the beginning. What can I say? Best friends don't grow on trees and you are certainly one of a kind. We made it through all the tears, the frustrations, and the moments of stress. We made it thanks to the joy, the laughter, and the eternal sunshine.

This isn't a goodbye. This is a thank you. "When mountains crumble to the sea, There will still be you and me." "Celebrate we will, Because life is short but sweet for certain. We're climbing two by two, To be sure these days continue. These things we cannot change."

Words don't do justice to how much you have meant to me. I couldn't have made it through this place without you. I am thankful for having chosen Swarthmore.

We're still here...
 Love you

EJ:

--Hi, I'm Bernard Nossuli. I live next door. --Hi, Erik Johnson.
 And from then on, the storm brewed: Football. Freshman roommates. Muhlenberg pals and cubby holes. Hall and ding the brotherhood. Monj. Last night of finals. Boxing bouts. Sousa. Marathon. Spring Laird. Swat-Jord Bball game. "I'm goin'!" Dana 2nd. Laird. Got a room? Amar and our couch. Orange wars. The stabbing. Dana shower. Cindy S. Swat-Jord Bball game. Mertz 3rd-Lodge 2. Football. Cancer. Laird. "Oota Goota Solo?" Tickling toes. The lion and Aussie. Broken Phones. WEc 31. Patsy and Greylock. Aubrie "...and the boy..." Maestro. Kirer. ahole. Wrestling. The thumb. Laird. Dave and Crystal Pete. Laura. Philosophy class. Game theory. One squirrel too many. Mertz bench.

But when the dust settled, we were still joking...
 Thanks for making swat a bit more tolerable humorous. Ay, for real, keep in touch.

"Once upon a time, a football player stood on the steps of Mertz, wearing a UVA hat..."
'you're from Maryland?' he asked....

(Summers, concerts, Warde Terrace to Sunshine Trail, ACL surgery, moving across the country, "Laird, Bernardo te llamo." letters, packages, missing you. Australia's GBR to Venezuelan starry skies, getting lost. Movie night. Soffles in Philly. Frogs and bears. Celtics and Larry Bird. Minneapolis with Wizz. Mix after mix. Le Bec-Fin. Midnight departure to see a newborn foal. Des Moines airport. Always always music..
..backflips at 3? Scrabble, sportscenter, piiiig. Fall football..
..cap'n Nossuli to the rescue. 2 utensils, and water for both of us.
Postcards.... "tell me stories" .. My huckleberry. Outback, cinnamon rolls in the morning. Mice. 'The best possible way..' AC & OC.
Seinfeld, south park, simpsons.... Forever indebted to the little girl who couldn't quite pronounce your name....she gave me a word to describe you....)

...the blond girl smiled. 'Yeah,' she said, 'Near Frederick.'
And it was the beginning of a beautiful friendship....."

*Thanks for the memories. We've transcended everything and the landscape continues on. Through it all, it's been you and me... A part of you will always be with me, wherever I go. "Trust I seek and I find in you... Every day for us something new....And nothing else matters."
Shine on, you crazy diamond.... May life be your everything.
I love you, Always.*

Laird

" Is that you, John Wayne?"

Erik with a K, from the moment I met you, I have been smiling. "You've got character," just like J.R. My life wouldn't have been complete if I hadn't 'shared' a room with you at Swarthmore, taken you on some horseback rides, and talked to you in way that I can talk to no one else. So many memories: rollerskating, plowing the soybean fields, the electric bull, the barns, dancing the 2-step, DU.
"Does EJ know?" I hope that the post office and telephones wherever you go aren't broken (not like those in NY) because I sure will miss you. Wherever you go and whatever you do, kid, don't lose the light in your eyes. So what if you say I don't know you, so what if you've never had a taco, the truth is that "I get a kick out of you..."

Love you always,
Li'l L

Liza (of some big city in CA):

It's been a whirlwind here at Swarthmore. Sarah Maclachlan and the Indigo girls in Mertz. (Duran Duran?) Cowboy Junkies, and Sun-60 in Wharton. Nothing in Japan and Venezuela, because you wouldn't give me the #. Here we are, ready to graduate and we are so far from being "all grown up." Thank God... it's still L & L's room, and we can go there always in our minds. Harriet the Spy...is that why they put us together?? With your devotion, kindness and sense of humor, you'll take the world by storm. Every second I've known you, you've been the truest of friends....

You'll always be my roomie.
I love you,
Laird (the one from some farm).

Caridad,
I'll never figure out why we had to fly all the way to Venezuela to become friends... it took far too long. Those months down there. What can I say? La Vela, Merida, the islands, mi familia, torta on the boulevard, the runs, the clay school, windburn on the beach, Polar, the kids, the dancing, the music, the colors, los muchachos... "las amistad." I can't imagine being there without all of your support, energy, and love. Charity, I hope you never lose the enthusiasm and sincerity that is so entirely yours--it can make even the grayest of days absolutely shine. Thanks for the memories...
Las Gringas Siempre,
Con mi amor,
Laird

ALI (I just can't call you Alison)--

Well, we finally made it!! I bet you didn't plan on becoming friends with the girl who SUPPOSEDLY acted like a..(you choose the adjective)... in the elevator in annapolis long long ago (I still deny that). It's been a strange progression, but one that I will always remember...Palmer, Mertz, Worth. We have managed to make adventures out of everything from lip gloss (greatest pick-up line EVER) to working out. Wherever you go, keep sight of alison and who she is... she won't let you down. The world's an open road.....

Love,
Laird

Congratulations, Class of 1998

Best of luck to everyone. Wherever I go, I will take you with me. Ryan--Take care of yourself. You're precious. Meg-- "I think he's crushing your ovaries!" Matt--I will never forget trekking in the mountains. I'm glad you're graduating with us! Pete & Giles--Worth N, there is no where else I'd rather have been.

Congratulations
Eric!

A mi querida Korina,

"Esto soñé", dice un poema de Machado, "que el caminante es suma del camino", un camino que se hace al andar. El tuyo ha sido un sendero iluminado por el amor que nos entrelaza, que tu espíritu creativo y generoso llevará en direcciones aun inéditas. Del amor recibido has creado la fuerza para dar a los demás. Te admiro, y te agradezco por la gran felicidad de poder ser parte de tu camino. Con todo mi amor, Mamá.

*Dear Ko,
Though I'll always cherish Rawoon-nappers, and all our precious memories of growing up,
I can't wait for the rest of our lives to come so we can spend it together. You've already grown into such an amazing person, and I know you'll only continue to thrive. I've admired you every step of the way, and I'll always stand behind you and support
you. You're more precious to me than anything else in the world;
I'll love you always.
Love and Kisses, Lisette*

Dear Emily,

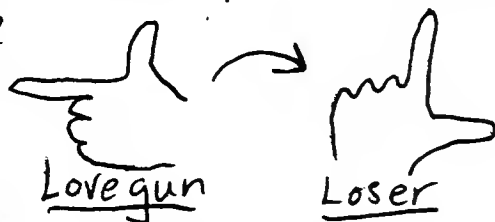

It didn't matter that I was 6'1" and you were, well, less than 6'1", you were nice enough to reach down from your lofty senior class position into the depths of those bourgeois freshmen. Don't think I'm not grateful! You know our many and varied faux pas shook Swarthmore to its social core (it's our lasting legacy) and you'll miss those leisurely Tarble breakfasts, I'm sure. There will forever be a gap from 9:45 to 11:15 in my heart. Final advice: Professors are for teaching ONLY! Long hair is not the ultimate good. Your parents and I will be proud! John Paul

SWEET, SAD, LESLIANNE:

I'm kidding of course -- except for the sweet part. Ah, memories. I just thought I'd say that. I hope you take my tutelage (e.g., walk (not the duck-bob), looks) to heart, and remember the hours of fun that kicky-feet and Simple-text brought us. It seems like yesterday that we began to openly mock them -- how time flies when you're bitter! On a more positive note, you'll have to keep hold of all of our rocking fun dance excursions; you've taught me so much about what it means to be cool. What was that part about Kenny G., again? (Yes, I dipped down to Clueless -- it should be your bible!) Don't forget me or I'll hunt you down/haunt your dreams!

Warmest regards,
John Paul
PS -- keep Fredrika and Ermina safe for me. Please.

Super Bowl XXXII

In one of the most competitive games in Super Bowl history, John Elway and Terrell Davis led the Denver Broncos to a 31-24 upset of the Green Bay Packers in Super Bowl XXXII. The Broncos' first National Football League championship ended the American conference's 13-year losing streak in the Super Bowl.

President Bill Clinton

President Bill Clinton was the first Democratic President in 60 years to be elected to a second term. A centrist New Democrat, he transformed his once beleaguered party. Under his presidency, the United States enjoyed the lowest rate of inflation since the early 1960's, and he was the first president in 17 years to submit a balanced budget to Congress. However, a year after his re-election, he was under close scrutiny for campaign finance violations and other scandals.

Princess Diana

Britain and the world bid farewell to Diana, Princess of Wales, on a sparkling September morning with a grand tribute rich in pageantry. Since her death in a car crash in Paris a week before, the country had witnessed an astonishing outpouring of grief that forced a repentant monarchy to join in the kind of full celebration of Diana's life that the millions of people who flooded into London demanded.

Spice Girls

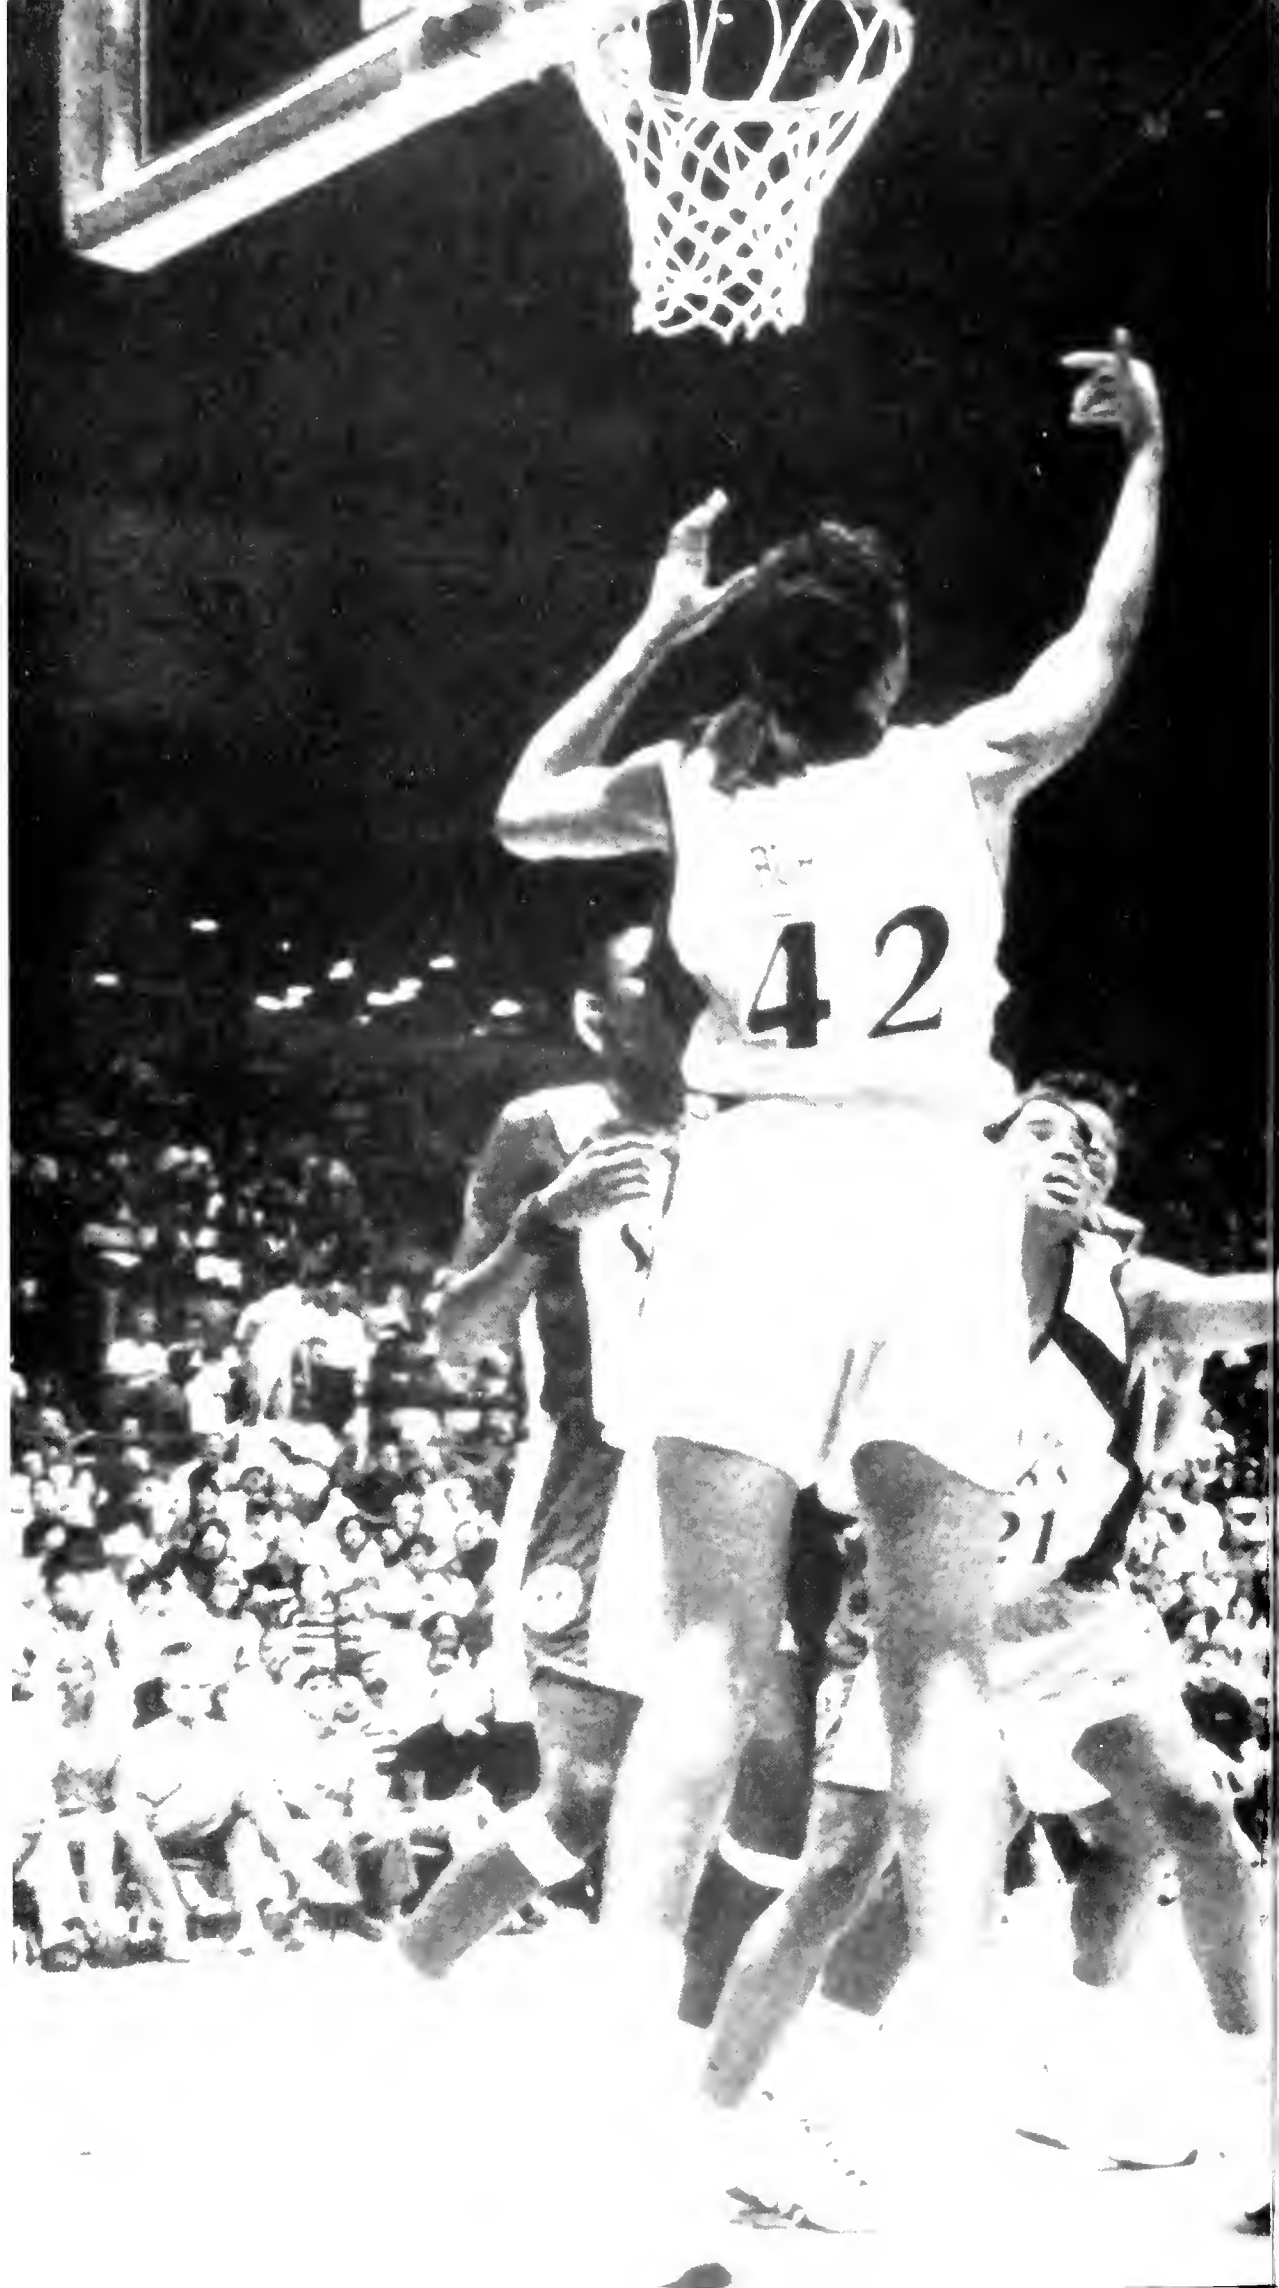

Despite comparisons with earlier groups like Menudo and New Kids on the Block, the Spice Girls have jumped into superstardom, grabbing the adoration that comes with overnight worldwide fame. With only one album to their credit, the five young women took the world by storm with their saucy antics and innumerable shouts of "Girl Power."

Mother Teresa

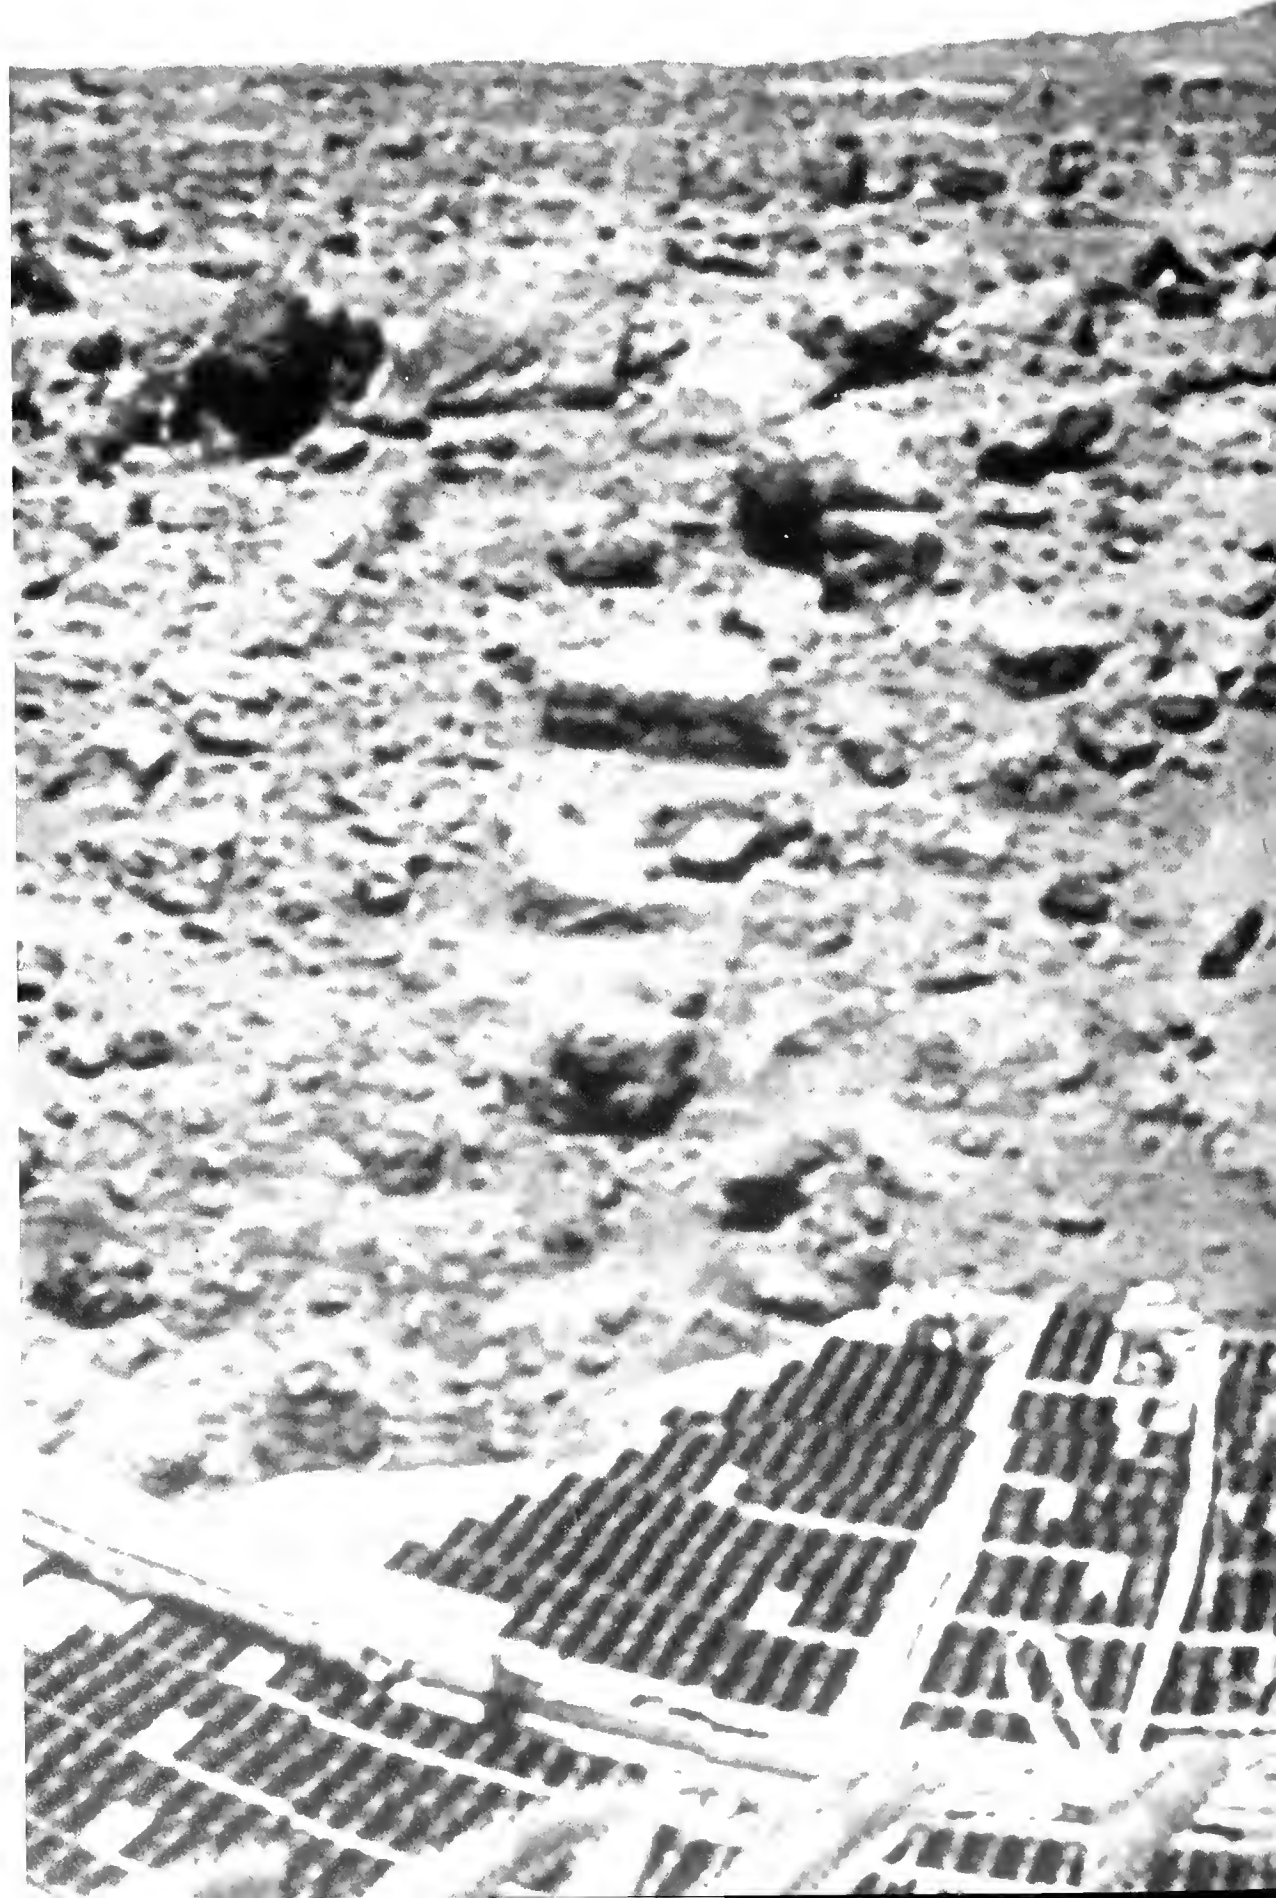

Mother Teresa was among the most well-known and highly respected women in the world in the later half of the twentieth century. In 1948 she founded a religious order of Roman Catholic nuns in Calcutta, India, called the Missionaries of Charity. Through this order, she dedicated her life to helping the poor, the sick and the dying around the world, particularly those in India. Her selfless work with the needy brought her much acclaim and many awards, including the Nobel Peace Prize in 1979. She died at the age of 87 on September 5, 1997 of heart failure at her convent in Calcutta.

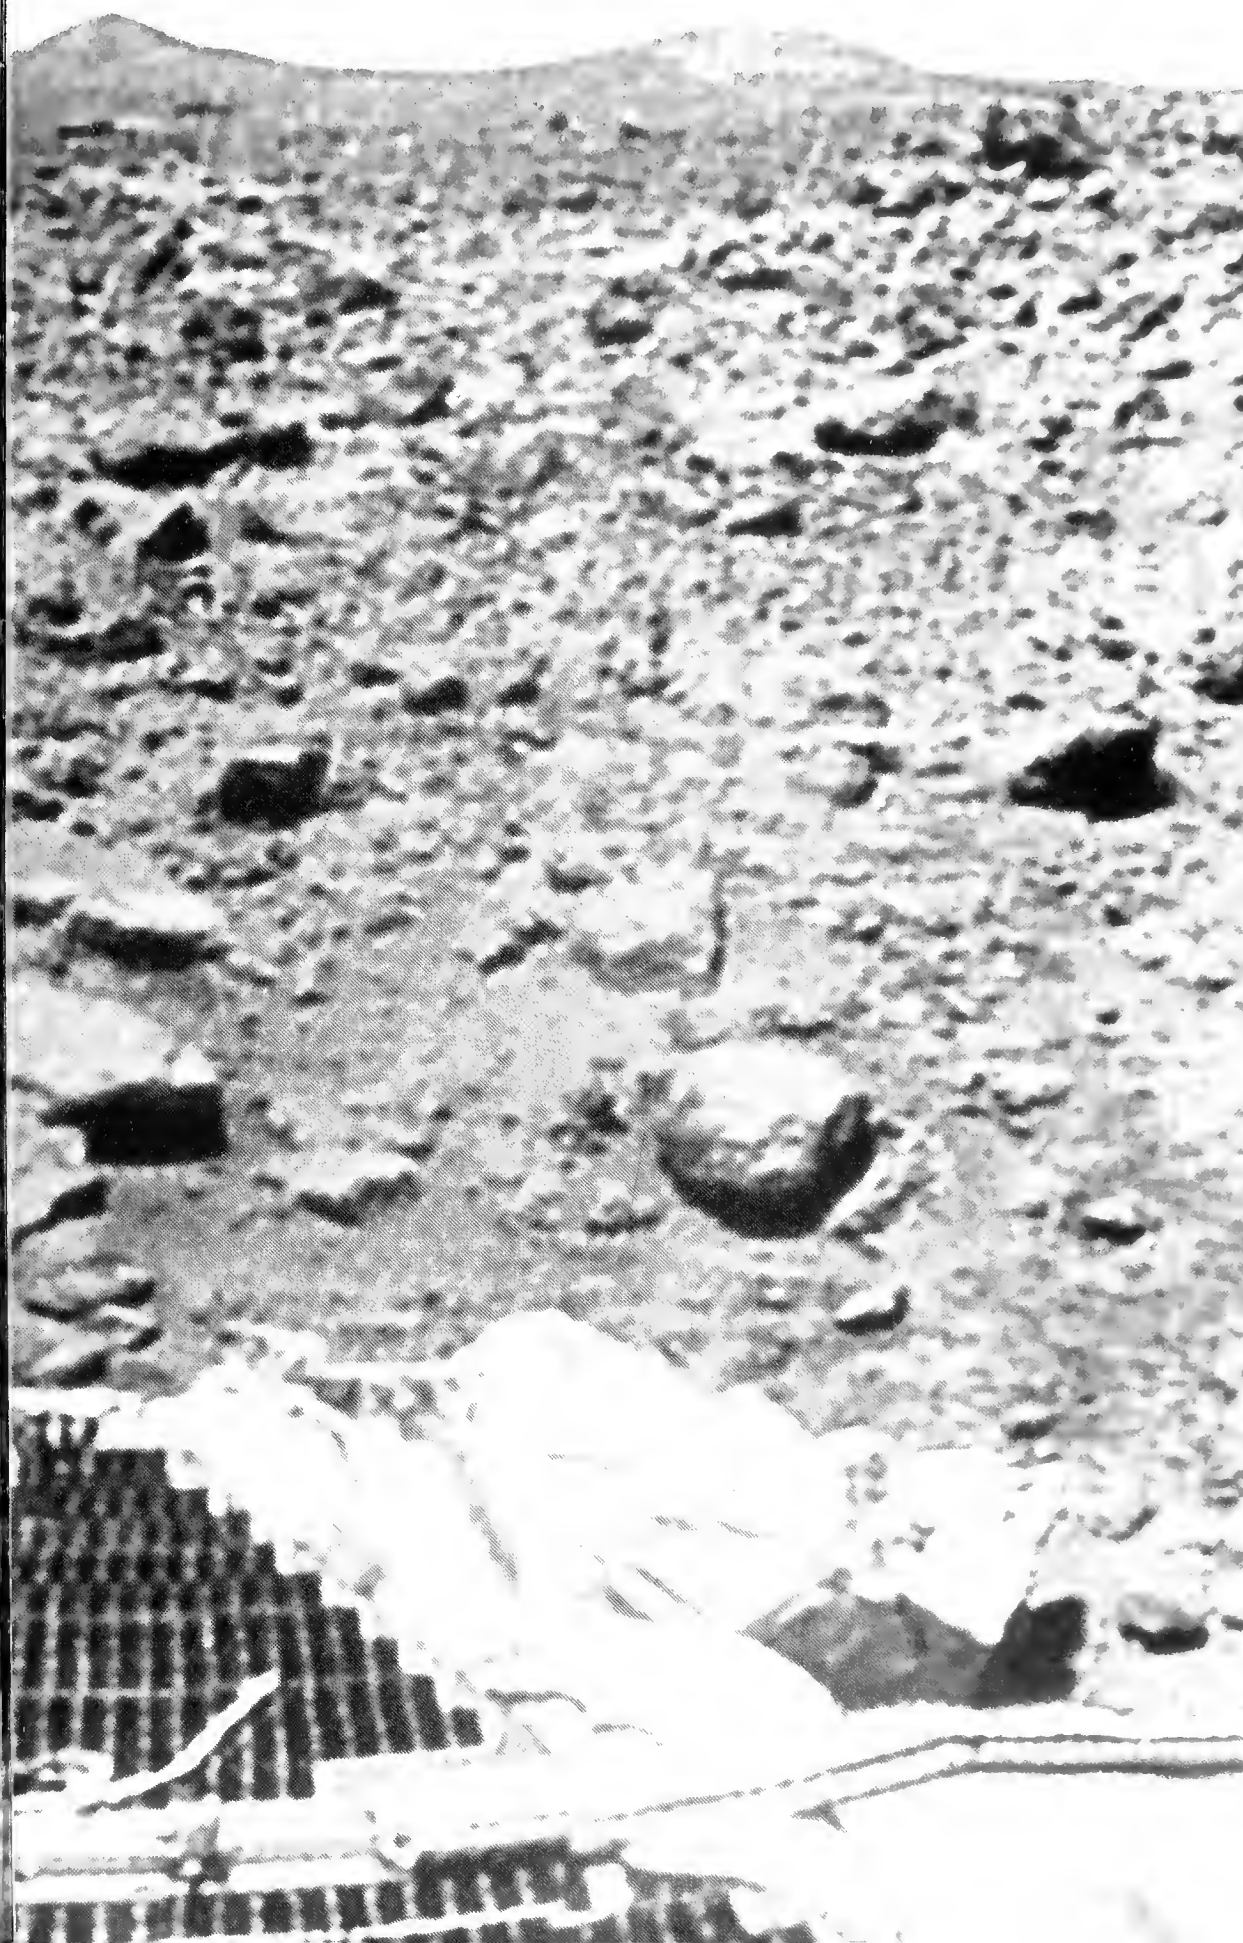

WNBA

The WNBA--Women's National Basketball Association--completed its inaugural season with the Houston Comets defeating the New York Liberty for the championship. And as the season came to a close, the WNBA announced that the eight-team league would grow to 10 teams in 1998. If it all works out, the Comets will jump to the Western Conference with Los Angeles, Phoenix, Sacramento and Utah. The new teams, Detroit and Washington, D.C., will join the East with Charlotte, Cleveland and New York.

Pathfinder

The roving vehicle Sojourner, the first mobile explorer to land on another planet, landed on Mars in 1997 and gathered soil and rocks. Overcoming communications trouble and other setbacks, the Sojourner left the Mars Pathfinder landing craft. The robotic rover's six metal wheels rolled slowly down a ramp and came to a stop on the surface. The Sojourner, which was about the size of a microwave oven, began crawling around the surface of Mars, transmitting a flood of information to scientists back on Earth.

you are here to enrich the world and you impoverish yourself
